

The Gazette outperforms radio every time.

Just one ad in the The Gazette reaches more adults than all radio stations combined.

Radio is a fragmented medium requiring many ads on many stations to effectively reach a target market. Community newspapers can achieve massive local reach with just a single insertion.

To reach the 68% who listened to any radio station yesterday would require purchasing spots throughout the day on all stations in the distribution area.

The Gazette goes where radio cannot

With a single ad, The Gazette reaches 28% of those who can't be reached by commercial radio. That represents 300 adults who will never hear a radio ad.

Manitoba at a glance

- 77% of MB adults read the last issue of their community newspaper
- 49% of respondents who read a community newspaper but not a daily
- 38% of MB adults are light TV viewers
- Among adults with a university+ education, 79% of adults read community papers
- Among adults with household incomes over $75K, 84% read the community paper compared to 51% reading the daily

Community Media versus Radio

Radio reach is limited

The top radio station (Brandon 880 CKLQ) only reaches 43% of adults daily.

A total of 38% of adults can't be reached with commercial radio because they do not listen to radio or listen only to commercial-free CBC.

What is ComBase?

ComBase is North America's largest media study, measuring newspapers of all types in 400+ individual Canadian markets.

ComBase is an initiative of the Canadian Community Newspapers Association and its nearly 750 members Canada-wide. It is the principal readership research conducted on behalf of the community newspaper industry in Canada. The purpose of the research is to provide consistent and accurate, market-by-market information to assist in the buying and selling of community newspaper advertising space.

Community media deliver

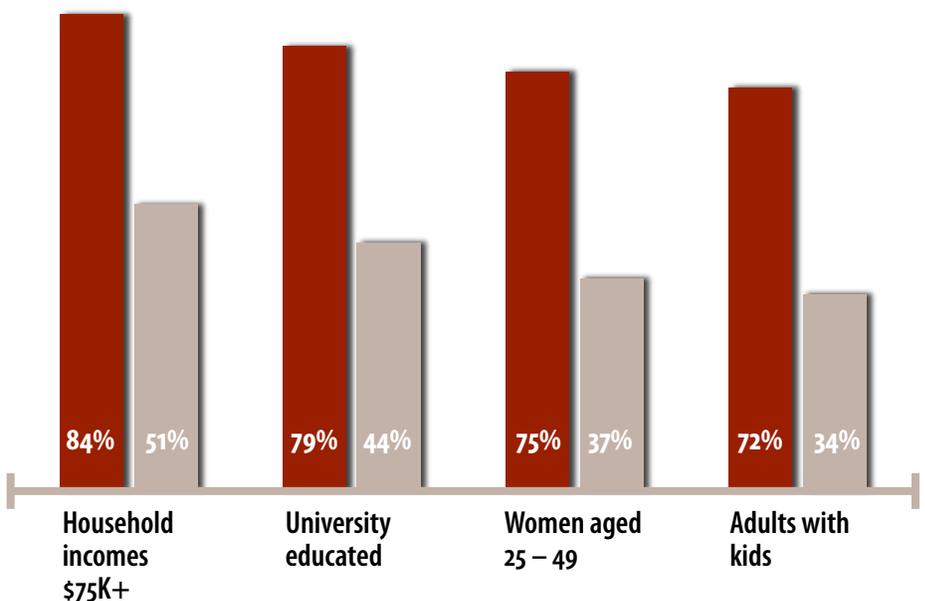

Not only do community newspapers have high readership, but they also reach the most desirable readers for advertisers—women, households with high incomes, families with children, and university graduates.

- Even in the most desirable target groups community newspapers are better read than daily newspapers
- Among adults with a university+ education, 79% of adults read community papers compared to 44% reading the daily
- Among adults with household incomes over $75,000, 84% read the community paper compared to 51% reading the daily
